

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A structure of a shielding case is changed into a fixing apparatus for holding a digital photography module on a mobile telephone. A first component of the fixing apparatus has several folded sides. These folded sides
5 are used to fix the horizontal movement of the digital photography module. A second component of the fixing apparatus has at least one engagement portion. The engagement portion is used to fix the vertical movement of the digital photography module.